

Traveling to the European Spallation Source (ESS) Construction Site and Construction Site Offices in Lund, Sweden.

The ESS Construction Site address is Odarslövsvägen 113, 225 92 Lund.

Bus. The green city bus no. 20 leaves Lund Central Station (Lund C) every 10 minutes at peak times with final destination ESS. Journey time is 15 minutes. You exit the bus at the ESS bus stop on Partikelgatan, directly in front of the future entrance to the ESS office buildings. To get to the current Site Office you need to backtrack to the main road, Odarslövsvägen. Turn left and follow the road for about 150 meters, and then turn left and walk through the main Gate A. Then turn right. Follow the signs for Site Office/Gate C.

To get to the Site Office by bus from ESS HQ on Tunavägen 24, you need to change buses. Take the no. 6 bus from Tunavägen/Sparta (see map) and change at the University Hospital (Skånes universitetssjukhus) for bus no. 20 to ESS.

Car. Exiting the parking lot from ESS HQ at Tunavägen 24, take a right turn and drive under the overpass for the E22 motorway. Take the next left onto Sångarevägen. At the end of this road, take a right onto Sölvegatan. Follow Sölvegatan until you reach a roundabout, and take the second exit for Odarslövsvägen (ESS). The site is approximately 2 km down the road on your left. Enter through Gate A and take an immediate right to the site office parking. Free visitor parking (maximum 2 hours) is available close to Gate C.

Bike. There are cycling paths directly from ESS HQ to the ESS Construction Site that follow the driving instructions above. When you reach the roundabout to enter onto Odarslövsvägen, there is an underpass on the right-hand side of the road that leads on to the cycling path along Odarslövsvägen. When approaching the Site, you need to cross the road to enter through Gate A. Bicycle parking is available outside Gate C, on the left.
