1. Parental leave – Who should be informed?

The colleagues from the human resource department are your first point of contact for questions and advice on employment.

They will advise you on matters such as parental-leave, part-time parental-leave, flexible working-hours, contract extension WissZeitVG, etc.

If you are planning to take parental leave please inform the human resource department as well as your supervisor.

➤ Parental leave

- Requires application for release from work in writing to be handed to your HR officer 7 weeks prior to the parental leave, state the period of time
- Up to 36 month, 12 month can be transferred until the child turns 8
- Splitting your parental leave:
 - For children born before the 1st of June 2015: two periods
 - For children born at/after the 1st of June 2015: three periods
 - Further periods are only possible in agreement with the employer

Recommendation:

- If possible, think carefully how parental leave is to be taken when filling in the 1st application
- Advantage: 1st application must be approved. When subsequent applications are made, the employer can make changes, if good reasons are given

2. Consulting the HR-department – topics III

➤ Part-time parental leave

- Request to work part-time: Requires application in writing 7 weeks prior to the start of work
- Options during parental leave: Employment up to 30 hrs/week, minimum 15 hrs./week (BEEG §15 paragraph 7, sentence 1)
- Is also taken into account in the extension of the employment contract according to WissZeitVG
- Partial entitlement to parental allowance (“Elterngeld”) is retained

➤ „Act of Academic Fixed Term Contract“ (in German: Wissenschaftszeitvertragsgesetz, WissZeitVG)

Contract extension:

- Submit written application for an extension of the fixed-term contract as per WissZeitVG for the duration of parental leave and maternity leave to your HR officer
- It is best to file both applications at the same time → Advantage: Only ONE application procedure to go through
- The application must be approved by the employer

2. Consulting the HR-department – topics IV

➤ Family component WissZeitVG

- The total duration (“12 year rule”) of the fixed term may be extended by 2 years for each child (you have to make a written informal request)
- Prerequisite: Agreement between employer and employee that this is to be claimed

- DESY tries to take the employee's wishes into account, where possible
- Trust-based working hours
- Home office in agreement with the supervisor

- Reduction of working hours either by working fewer hours a day or working fewer days a week
- Consideration of the employee's needs as far as possible
