

LUX

Tuesday 21 June 2016 09:45 (20 minutes)

LUX is a 370 kg two-phase xenon TPC detector which has been operating underground at Sanford Lab (USA) since 2012. We report on several notable results from new analysis of the WIMP dark matter search data, and precision calibrations.

Primary author: Dr FIORUCCI, Simon (Department of Physics Brown University, Providence, US)

Presenter: Dr FIORUCCI, Simon (Department of Physics Brown University, Providence, US)