When and where

- From Monday 25/11/2019 at 14.00 (lunch not included) until Thursday 28/11/2019 at 14.00 (lunch included): 3 full days
- Could fit up to ~45 talks (as in REF2018)
- Allows people to travel on Monday morning and Thursday afternoon

- Venue: Aula Foscolo of the University of Pavia (downtown Pavia)
- Already booked (25-29/11/2019), just in case
- Asked to have chairs+tables, plugs. Can ask for wifi access (eduroam works too)
- Milan airports well-connected to Pavia by public transport: Linate (~1h15m to Pavia), Malpensa (~1h45m), Bergamo (~2h)
- Several hotels at walking distance from the venue

Aula Foscolo

Costs

- Goal: keep it low-budget, support as many participants as possible (students…)
- Participants: ~60?
- Event manager: already in touch with a company (Pragma) to handle fees, reimbursements (only with tickets), food, etc. Asked an estimate.
- Fee: ~150€ (-22% VAT… ~120€)
- Venue: free
- Lunches and coffee breaks: already explored couple of possibilities. Most promising: a place across the street, capacity for ~60 (if stand up buffet, more).
  3 lunches ~16€ each, 6 coffee breaks ~5€ each
  (Total per participant: ~80€)
- Social dinner: downtown, ~40-50€
- Other sources of money: Alessandro's ERC,…

To be discussed…

- We mentioned in the meeting in Krakow that maybe it's time to organize REF every 2 years, due to the overlap with other workshops…
  And in the year in between, organize a school on "REF topics", inspired by the recently organized TMD school in the US (link) and the tutorials of REF2018…

- Keep/increase participation of experimentalists and students/postdocs?

- Keep the idea of a workshop: encourage discussions, interaction, etc.
  This means ~60 participants maximum?
  (REF 2014-2018 participants: 37-46-41-40-65)

- Workshop name: change it? REF is not very descriptive…
  Maybe something with "transverse"?
