- engage in fundamental and applied research in physics, biology, chemistry, crystallography, material and geological science.
 - Some few students will work in the European XFEL project.

- Program B:

- Research in Elementary Particle Physics (High energy Physics)

- experiments ATLAS, CMS, FLC (international linear e^+e^- collider) , Belle II, ALPS II at DESY

Project work in local groups

- You will be picked up later by your supervisor(s)
- Your supervisor is your most important contact person at DESY (you can ask her/him almost anything)
- In case of questions related to your work ask your supervisors or the group secretaries

What you can expect and recommendations

- You will be fully integrated into your research team and work like a “normal” DESY researcher, 39h per week (including lectures)
 not shy, ask your supervisors or other members of your team for help and advise, give feedback, participate in group meetings and present your results
- At the end you will write/deliver a ~10 pages write-up of your project work (with help by supervisors)

Computing infrastructure at DESY

- DESY has its own computing centre in bld. 2B (worth a visit)
- At the hostel use following WLANs:
 - DESY Guest Net (a bit slow, easy registration with web interface)
 - Eduroam (you have to register)
- Software: For Mathematica, Matlab and Origin DESY has only a limited number of licenses:
 - Discuss any needs with your supervisor
 - Run only one process at a time and finally close the program

Lecture programme
