

(Magnetic) x-ray standing waves

Wednesday 19 August 2020 09:55 (25 minutes)

The presentation will provide a brief introduction the x-ray standing wave method. Laying in between spectroscopy and diffraction, the technique is used to study the atomic structure of materials in the direct way. In the second part, the extension of the method for magnetic structures will be presented.

Primary author: KAMINSKI, Michal

Presenter: KAMINSKI, Michal

Session Classification: Session 1.1