

Performance of a machine learning algorithm for predicting muon multiplicity

Thursday, 15 July 2021 18:48 (12 minutes)

We present here the performance of a machine learning-based algorithm to predict the muon multiplicity using a simulated dataset in which the trigger condition was varied. We also show the performance of this algorithm in selecting interesting events in the prototype detector at TIFR.

Keywords

Collaboration

other Collaboration

Subcategory

Experimental Methods & Instrumentation

Primary author: MURGOD, Lakshmi (Central University of Karnataka)

Co-authors: Dr SAMUEL, Deepak (Central University of Karnataka); Mr DUTTA, SOURAV (Central University of Karnataka)

Presenter: MURGOD, Lakshmi (Central University of Karnataka)

Session Classification: Discussion

Track Classification: Scientific Field: NU | Neutrinos & Muons