

EDDA hackathon 1

Lund edition

Lene Kristian Bryngemark

when, where, how

Monday October 30 at 9 am, to Friday 3 November noon

Physics Department (Fysicum) in Lund

- Monday: input from wider community, large-group conceptual and design discussions, choosing a concrete task for the week
  - group dinner in the evening, location TBA
- Tuesday-Thursday dedicated to hands-on working on tasks
  - we will have one larger room, and one smaller breakout room
  - ask the locals (like me) if you need to borrow e.g. an office
- Friday morning we present what we've done during the week to the whole group

some geography

Fysicum

train station

city center

walking times according to google

Fysicum

 hotel

 train station

 city center

walking times according to google

Fysicum

train station

city center

Lund is a highly walkable university town. Most hotels are reasonably close to Fysicum.

some public transit info

There is a train (Öresundståg) between Copenhagen and Lund every 20 minutes

- no need to book that leg in advance, the price is fixed and you'll just be worrying about delays
- do bring your passport for the border crossing

Transit within Lund from/to the train is included in your Copenhagen ticket