

Photocredits: l: Prazák Nat Microbiol. 2024, m: CSSB, r: S. Banerjee

Linking Hamburg infection research to industry

Infectious diseases continue to be one of the greatest challenges to global health, with far-reaching impacts on all areas of society. We invite you to an interdisciplinary workshop to discuss the latest findings and innovative solutions for tackling infectious diseases.

Feb 6 2025, 4 - 8 PM

CSSB auditorium, DESY building 15

Notkestraße 85, 22607 Hamburg

Link to registration

Speakers:

- Prof. Dr. Blanche Schwappach-Pignataro, UKE
- Prof. Dr. Kay Grünewald, UHH, LIV, CSSB
- Prof. Dr. Maya Topf, LIV, UKE, CSSB
- Dr. Christina Deschermeier, Panadea Diagnostics
- Prof. Dr. Nicole Fischer, UKE
- Dr. Sönke Friedrichsen, altona Diagnostics GmbH
- Dr. Denise Dekker, BNITM

This event will focus on innovative solutions for addressing infectious diseases, exploring practical applications of research findings in real-world settings.

HELMHOLTZ

This event is supported by Helmholtz and organized by DESY and the Centre for Structural Systems Biology CSSB, in cooperation with the cluster Life Science Nord and the project HIHeal