Experience science through film!

A boy loves robots more than anything. His passion for technology is so intense that he is known everywhere as an expert in the field. He also has a robot best friend who not only looks like a marshmallow but is also just as adorable. Although he can be quite clumsy at times, he is always ready to help and advise the boy—whether he wants it or not. When mysterious events start unfolding in the city, the two find themselves facing major challenges. Alongside their quirky friends, they form a team of high-tech specialists whose genius and skills will determine the fate of their city...
